PRESIDENTS RAMBLINGS

Just did a bit of browsing looking at vehicle legalities and found a few interesting pieces that are really common sense but have to be put down on paper. Your car can be defected for many things including dicky lights, electrical connections, the obvious tyres, buckled rims, brakes, rust in structural members, holes in firewall, exhaust exit must be to the rear of any body opening and not under the car, seat belts, engine mounts, speakers secured and some of it seems to be pretty subjective.

Some things are more defined. Vehicles manufactured after 1972 (that's us) must have operational windscreen washers, after 1971 must have a working demister, you don't need a spare wheel or a jack although it is advisable to have both of these. You cannot show coloured neons or LEDs under your car, if manufactured on or after 1 January 1974 the car must be fitted with the original induction system, camshaft and associated emission control systems unless previously approved. If you change the steering wheel on your P76 it must not be less than 330mm and must be stamped that it complies with ADR 10.

What started this investigation is the seemingly increase in the use of "ice blue" and HID lights in car headlights these days. Even when on low beam the focus is such that if they hit a speed bump or spoon drain the on coming driver is dazzled. Legally HID's must have automatic headlight leveling devices and headlight washers, maybe they don't work quickly enough (or they haven't got them)

The Sherman tidy up continues slowly. I found an excellent fit rubber dust boot for the lower control arm (Nissan 48522-01J00) and have fitted the new bearings to the steering intermediate shaft but still need to replace the "rag joint" on the bottom end. Mentiplay Leyland in WA has exhausted his stock but should have more soon.

More next time

Nigel

CLUB SURVEY RESULTS *TO THIS POINT

14 members have responded so far, thanks to those people.

Model	Colour	Registered	Condition

From this we can see ( as far as I know) that we have 9 registered P76s in the Club of which 6 are suitable to display in a car show, 6 cars are a Job in Progress so I hope we can see these on the road in the not too distant future. 5 cars are “waiting in the wings”, hopefully not too long, for their chance to shine.

I have to analyze more of this info to work out how we can help our country members and what events you members would like to go to.

This does show us why we aren't getting the P76s to events in recent times.
