PRESIDENT'S RAMBLINGS

Here we are again well into February and the COVID-19 situation is still going through peaks and troughs. Try as we might, it still bites us when we think we are doing OK. My brother-in-law was in Adelaide from Melbourne last month and we enjoyed a meal at a North Adelaide eatery however he was quite anxious about the number of people in close proximity to us and walking to the establishment without masks after the relatively severe restrictions in Melbourne over the previous 9 months or so. We went down to Glenelg afterwards for a coffee and that nearly did his head in, crowds barely social distancing and unmasked. What is the new normal? I think it really depends on where you are living at the time. Will it change from where we are now? We just have to wait and see.

Just had a look at the FHMC website to see what is happening and it seems much the same as everywhere. Events planned then cancelled at the last minute due to COVID-19. It does make it pretty difficult to plan anything. I can understand the Qld P76 club having to cancel the Nationals as restrictions between states are on and off depending on flare ups and hot spots. Hopefully one day.....

Meanwhile here at home we have been busy with the house and not so much the P76 resto. You know how it goes, new carpets for the bedrooms are coming so we better paint the skirting boards, better do the ceiling before the carpets come, oh well, might as well do the walls as well. But it does look a million dollars now. Long lead times for materials make it a long-drawn-out process but things are starting to come together. We have painted some older furniture that is still fit for purpose to smarten it up and the end result will look as though we have achieved something.

The National Council, which pops up every now and then is resurrecting a P76 Spare Parts log which as I understand will be accessible to all club members and should contain a list of what parts are available and where Australia wide. Hopefully this will be used for its intended purpose, to keep existing runners on the road and to fill in the gaps for restoration projects.

There are a couple of projects on the go at the moment, one is a kit containing all the workings needed to install a cable operation for the clutch on a manual gearbox vehicle, to eliminate the often-problematic clutch shudder. Also available sometime is a door rust repair panel of some sort ex Qld which I heard about on the grapevine, as we don't seem to get a Qld magazine these days, if indeed there is one, who knows about what goes on spare parts wise with interstate clubs. With a bit of luck and common sense this will help us all.

Stay safe, keep QR coding and sanitizing.

Nigel
